MEETINGS SLATED TO EXPLAIN SNOWMOBILE LAW TO DEALERS AND MUNICIPAL OFFICIALS

The new law regulating snowmobiles, which goes into effect Oct. 1, will be explained at meetings in Brewer, Presque Isle, and Lewiston, scheduled for next week by the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Game. All snowmobile dealers and town and city officials have been invited to the meetings. Representatives from Taxation, Sales Tax Division, and the Warden Service will be on hand to answer questions.

The session at Lewiston will be held at City Hall at 1:30 p. m., Thursday, Sept. 25. Registration procedures will be explained to assist dealers in answering questions from customers.

Fish and Game Department officials have said they feel close communication with dealers is essential to a good working relationship and to make more effective application of the new regulations.

WEST BETHEL COUPLE ESCAPE SERIOUS INJURY MONDAY

A West Bethel couple escaped serious injury in an auto mishap Monday evening when their vehicle left the road on the "Thurston curve" on Route 2 in Bethel. Louis Paul sustained a fractured shoulder and was released following treatment at Rumford Community Hospital. His passenger, Mrs. Paul, was treated by a local physician for lacerations and bruises.

Mrs. Marie Gunther and Mabel Stanley observed a huge bull moose in the corner of Dr. Hudson's pasture while sitting on their front porch Sunday evening.

COMMENTS FROM THE OFFICE OF THE TOWN MANAGER

A group from Bethel attended another meeting of several towns in the area to discuss further the possibilities of organizing to provide ambulance service.

The major benefit to be derived has been lost as the Norway Hospital has refused to administer the service. When a hospital takes this responsibility, Medicare and Medicaid contribute much more for services rendered, also these programs will assist financially on the depreciation of equipment. Neither private contractors nor municipalities are eligible for the extra reimbursement.

We have had an offer from a private contractor in Rumford to cover the town with a Rumford-based vehicle. He will do this for $5,000 per year subsidy on a year-to-year contract.

It would be very helpful if anyone interested in serving on a volunteer basis as an ambulance attendant would contact this office as a report of all aspects of this type service will be presented to the Town and a final decision must be rendered as to which approach we will take, contract or volunteer.

Robert Eisnor, who has been staying at Kathryn Ramsell's, has moved to the apartment at Dr. Harroll's.

With the exception of the last three, each of these courses must have a minimum enrollment of 12 interested adults before it will be offered.

Those people that have already taken Spanish I may sit in on this year's class and receive some independent study assignments as well as some separate instruction from Mr. Otero-Otero.

Classes will start the following week, with days and times to be noted on the registration form that will be sent home with the District students the beginning of next week. Any interested adult that does not have a student attending the school, may obtain this form by contacting the Guidance Office at Telstar.

S. A. D. 44 FACULTY CLUB HOLDS INITIAL SESSION OF 1969-70 SCHOOL YEAR

The S. A. D. 44 Faculty Club held its first meeting of the year on Monday evening, Sept. 15, at Telstar Regional High School Auditorium. In the absence of the president, Frank H. Glazier, the vice president of the group, Peter Brown, conducted the meeting.

Mr. Brown opened the meeting by reading the following communication from Mr. Glazier, who at the present time is a patient at the Rumford Community Hospital: "I am indeed indebted to Mr. Brown, vice president of the Faculty Club for directing the meeting for me while I rested in bed at the hospital. May I extend greetings to all. It will be a happy day when I can be with you again."

Mr. Brown then spoke briefly on the Club's theme for the year: "Teachers Together in S. A. D. 44 Move Education Forward into the Decade of 1970."

Mr. Brown told the teachers that one small machine can do the work of 50 ordinary people, but no machine can replace one extra-ordinary teacher. "The time has come when we must all realize what is happening," he continued. "We have been given the secrets of life before we know what to do with them. The explosion of knowledge has had repercussions in every walk of life."

MOTORCYCLES MUST BE INSPECTED IN OCTOBER STATE POLICE REMIND

Inspection of all motorcycles and similar motorized two-wheel vehicles registered for operation in Maine will be required next month under legislation passed by the 104th Maine Legislature.

The new law calls for the inspection twice annually—in October and April—of all motor driven cycles, which includes motorcycles and motor scooters and every bicycle with a motor attached.

The inspection is to be performed at an inspection station licensed by the Maine State Police. Fee for the inspection will be $1. Under the statute, a certificate of inspection when issued is to be kept with the registration certificate of the motor driven cycle.

The inspection will include a thorough examination and check of the vehicle's frame, brakes, lighting and electrical system, handlebars, exhaust and fuel systems, tires and wheels, horn and rear view mirror. All must be in safe operating condition.

Inspections may be performed at any existing licensed motor vehicle inspection stations and at motor cycle dealers and repair shops duly licensed as motorcycle inspection stations by the Maine State Police.

MAINE 4-H MEMBERS SHOW UP WELL AT EASTERN STATES EXPOSITION IN SPRINGFIELD

Two of the three young 4-H Club members from Maine showing baby beef at the Eastern States Exposition in Springfield, Mass., did themselves proud in the prize winning ribbon section, while a third youngster of 15 years lent his abilities and animal in the Team-of-Four (?) Contest.

Brenda Maxham, 17, of Farmington, showed her early Hereford, and out of a total of 17 animals shown in this class won herself a second in the Senior Showmanship and Fitting Contest.

Diane Day, 16, of Hampden Highlands, put her late Hereford through his paces and came in 6th out of a field of 20 in the Intermediate Showmanship and Fitting Contest.

Ralph Thurston, 15, of Rumford Point, a newcomer, showed a magnificent early Angus but to no avail. Ralph has learned a lot this trip from the animal industry professors of our neighboring state universities and declares he will place well up with the winners next year.

In the Team-of-Four Contest, the normal procedure has all four animals judged individually, with the points accumulated and counted on three of the four, the lowest animals points not being used. Maine, with only three animals entered, had all of their points counted for the team total. Out of 30 teams entered, the Maxham-Day-Thurston team came in 8th; and, of no small importance, Diane Day placed 15th out of a total of 117 animals entered. Maine people have good cause to stand up and congratulate these three fine 4-Hers and their hard work.

First term classes started at Gould Academy this Thursday, Sept. 18.

RANGELEY DISTRICT SCOUTS SCHEDULED TO CAMP ON BETHEL COMMON, SEPT. 19-20-21

A public camping demonstration of Boy Scouts of the Rangeley District will be held on the Bethel Common the week end of Sept. 19-20-21, and each Troop in the District has been invited to be represented by one Patrol of not over eight boys, under the leadership of their Patrol Leader.

Leaders have been invited, but if they are busy there is a chance that some of the Scouts can still enjoy a week end of camping, as leaders do not have to attend.

Each troop should be represented by a regular Patrol, and they may check in after school on Friday, that evening, or 9:00 Saturday morning. The program will continue until Sunday afternoon. All fires are to be charcoal. Each Patrol will have a demonstration to present to the public, with Scouts to be in uniform at all times. Boys will only be allowed to leave the grounds with permission.

That same week end there will also be a District Camping-on-the-Green Program at the Phillips airstrip on Route 4 just south of the town, and a few Troops under their own leadership are expected to select to camp there.

Permission has been granted for the Scouts to use the Bethel Fire Station for bathroom facilities and water as long as there is an adult present. Thanks to Fire Chief Harold Carver and Bethel town officials for letting the Scouts have the use of the Fire Station and the Common.

All adults are welcome to visit the Green and see what the Scouts are doing.

Adults are still being sought to rebuild interest in Scouting in Bethel. If any are interested they are asked to contact Ernest Perkins, Mason Street, Bethel.

Mr. Brown went on to say, "we have been teaching children to remember, not to understand—that is like knowing the price of everything and the value of nothing." He exhorted the teachers to treat the humanities with the greatest "reverence."

"The sciences have already outstripped all other fields of knowledge," he said. He cited communications as the subject most highly valued by scientists. Mr. Brown made reference to the advancement of science and technology and listed the problems which these advances create: such problems as pollution and overpopulation are the predictable hazards, he said, but they will certainly be some unpredictable problems. "With the so-called blessings come nightmares," he said, "as we go into the decade of 1970."

25 SECONDS WITH THE NAZARENE

Ever meet with a man with a freakish belief
But unable to tell much about it.
So outstanding so that you wondered in fact
If perchance even he didn't doubt it?
There's a theory, you know, your belief matters not,
Just so long as you freely receive it;
But the Lord's seeking men who know what they believe
And can tell you just why they believe it—
(II Tim. 1:12b) "For I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day."

SUNDAY RIVER

Mrs. R. M. Fleet, Corres.

Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Foster of South Paris were in town, Thursday. Marshall Fleet returned home from the Stephens Memorial Hospital, in Norway, Thursday. But he will not be able to return to school for a while as he has to go back for check ups.

The Artist Bridge is undergoing some repairs.

Bonny Hutchinson had the misfortune to fall from her saddle horse and bumped her head quite badly while visiting Miss Jane Baker. The doctor was called.

Robert Bates has received his military discharge and returned home with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Asher Runnels went to Orono where their son Philip entered his first year in college at the University of Maine, Saturday.

Mathews and L. C. Andrews are the names on a sign in front of one of the new camps. It's a real nice log cabin.

Benton Swan mowed hay for Romeo Baker and Roland Fleet did the same for Raymond Foster and Mrs. Blanch Chapman between showers.

Carroll Yates spent Friday and Saturday at his parents.

Russell Yates with his parents, started out Sunday P. M. for a ride. Concord Pond was the destination in mind. Taking a wrong road some where (not one of us knows where) we came out over in the town of Peru. O. K. - we did get a look at Concord Pond. But from Peru we went to Dixfield, Hartford, Canton, North Buckfield and Buckfield, back to South Paris where we had a lunch we had taken along. From South Paris up the back way to Paris Hill - down to route 26 again. Back to Bethel, - then to the "Red Lantern" for a frosty freeze to finish off a lovely ride on a lovely afternoon.

Laura Adams and children stopped at her parents Sunday P. M. on her way to Upton.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Blake and Tom Yates were Sunday dinner guests of their parents, the Estes Yates.

Tom Yates was sick over the week end so was unable to go back to his work at Severance Lodge until Sunday P. M.

Eunice Hathaway went for a ride with the Yates Sunday.

Wallace Brown was in the neighborhood last week with Rawleigh products.

Mrs. Elizabeth Wight was a caller at the Yates last Monday afternoon.

One unusual sight seen by the Yates on their Sunday ride was - two donkeys - three ponies - and a small pig in a pasture eating corn fodder. One donkey and the pig eating nose to nose.

CARD OF THANKS

I want to thank all my friends, neighbors, relatives also Ladies Chapel Aid for all the nice gifts, flowers and cards I received while I was in the hospital and since returning home.

May God bless you all.

Recommended College Board test dates for college-bound seniors: Most colleges, require, or at least prefer, that seniors take the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) in November or

December and the Achievement
Tests (ACH) in December or January. Colleges generally like to have Senior SAT scores as soon as possible; thus, unless a college specifically require a later date, most seniors should plan to take the November
SAT. Note the last date for registering for this November's SAT, without paying a penalty fee is Oct. 1.
It is generally not recommended that a student take both the morning SAT and the afternoon Achievement Tests on the same day. To make certain you take the proper tests at the proper time, study the bulletins of the colleges where you plan to apply.

For college-bound juniors: All juniors planning to attend college or vocational institutes should try to take the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test (PSAT) on Oct. 21. In addition, most college-bound juniors take the Scholastic Aptitude Test
(SAT) in March and the Achievement Tests (ACH) in May. It is important to note, however, that not all colleges, especially junior colleges and technical institutes, require the College Board Achievement Tests for admission. Up-to-date college catalogs are the most accurate source of information about which tests are required for admission.

Applications for the College Board
Tests are available in the Guidance Department (Student should consult their counselor if they have any questions).

General Aptitude Test Battery—to be given Oct. 7 at Telstar. All seniors who plan to attend a vocational technical college or who plan to seek full-time employment following graduation, should register for the CATB the week of Sept. 22 in the Guidance Office.

ped their wings in the distance.

The Great Blue Heron with slow, regular, wing beat wondered at our beach fire then decided all was safe.

As I sat alone at the Narrow Place, so called because one can see the sea in both directions, road between two beaches, one toward Vinal Haven and the other toward Camden, the sandpiper came up and nodded his welcome.

I repeated to him Celia Thaxter's "Across the lonely beach I flit one little sandpiper and I"—He just bathed his feet in the run of the sea then headed toward me as though I did not exist. I walked down to the water's edge and looked out toward a house high on the cliffs. There the fringe of grass and the thickly grown spruces were washed with soft light. Here Sandpiper watched me closely, making no attempt to fly. At the same moment a passing gull turned to investigate while others joined him. They plummeted untidily into the waves.

"Ah-ha," one gasped above my head.

"Gaa," came the answer from close behind.

"Koy?koy" another voice from the softly whispering sea.

Then "Come" they seemed to say.

I was an intruder. Their strident voices tried to hammer home their message "Enemy, enemy."

From this shore too I could see a thatched roofed house and was told that all parts of the home including the sods were brought from Norway across the sea and workmen came from there to put it up.

From Bartlett's Harbor we took a trail to Long Nose Point, where I took pictures of the once Natural Bridge but now partly broken by the power of the sea.

We saw the homes of Ann Morrow Lindberg and Robert Montgomery and viewed the town where the mountains meet the sea, Camden, the home of Edna St. Vincent Millay. Some of her greatest poems were written about this region. There were in the distance Matinicus, Green Ledges, Stonington, Deer Isle, Blue Hill, Mt. Beattie which we looked at through our binoculars.

As I did in many other places I took pictures of Pulpit Rock in Pulpit Harbor. A hawk's nest was on top. Here some years back, President F. D. Roosevelt came to this harbor and anchored a battleship on guard at the entrance while the

MEDICARE COVERAGE OF EXTENDED CARE FACILITIES OUTLINED BY OFFICIAL

An attempt to eliminate confusion about what Federal law permits Medicare to pay for a patient's stay in an extended care facility (ECF) is contained in a statement issued recently by Philip E. O'Brien, New England Regional Commissioner of the Social Security Administration of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

While there are four conditions that must exist to permit payment by Medicare for a stay in an ECF, O'Brien pointed to one requirement as the factor causing confusion—that which stipulates that the patient's medical needs require continuing skilled nursing care.

Meaning of this requirement, he explained, is that the eligible patient in an ECF must require skilled service furnished under the supervision of trained medical personnel for a condition for which the patient was treated in a hospital prior to admission to the ECF.

The law does not permit Medicare payment, he emphasized, for patients transferred from a hospital to an ECF (that is, a Social Security certified nursing home) because they need assistance with daily living, such as help in dressing, eating or bathing.

"There is an incorrect belief," O'Brien said, "that any stay in a nursing home, especially a stay which follows a Medicare-paid hospitalization, will be paid by Medicare. This is not so."

"Neither is the service considered skilled merely because it is performed by a trained medical person. If the service, performed by the trained medical person, can be safely and adequately performed by a non-medical person without the direct supervision of trained medical personnel, it would constitute non-skilled service and would not be covered by Medicare."

Medicare coverage of a stay in an ECF is determined by the patient's need for continuing skilled nursing care, O'Brien said. "If the patient does need it, Medicare covers the cost. If the patient does not, Medicare makes no payment."

Other requirements for ECF or nursing home benefits under Medicare are that a patient must have been in a hospital for at least three consecutive calendar days, have been transferred to the nursing home within 14 days after discharge from the hospital and be admitted to the ECF for a condition for which the patient was treated in a hospital. In addition, a physician must certify

SHRINE TRAIN RETURNS — A Canadian National Railroad train consisting of over 20 cars stopped at Bethel late Sunday afternoon on its return trip from Montreal. Some 900 Maine Shriners and their wives traveled by the train to Montreal for the Northeast Shrine Convention over the week end. It was reported that more than 100 area Shriners boarded the "special" at Bethel last Friday morning.

Pfc. Arthur R. (Joe) Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Taylor, Route 2, Gilead, graduated Sept. 5, from 30 weeks of school at the Army Missile and Ammunitions Center and School, at Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, Ala., and has been promoted to the grade of Army Sp4. He will be an Electronics Technician and Repairman on the Army's Redeye and Shillelagh Missile Systems. He is currently being held over at his company awaiting leave time and further assignment. Sp4 Taylor graduated from Woodstock High School, class of 1968, and joined the Army on Sept. 9 of that year.

that the patient needs skilled nursing services.

While expressing sympathy with those who contend that Medicare should cover the costs of ECF care not directly related to reasons for the previous hospitalization and for service not requiring "continued skilled nursing care," O'Brien said, "The current law does not permit it."

He invited persons over 65 to contact their nearest district office of the Social Security Administration for information. Available at Social Security offices is a new leaflet "Medicare Benefits in an Extended Care Facility" that contains a full but simplified description of the requirements for Medicare coverage of a stay in an ECF.

NEWSOM ATTENDING SPECIAL INSURANCE SCHOOL

Jeffrey C. Newsome, a representative of Aetna Life and Casualty in the Oxford County area, is attending a special life insurance school at Aetna's home office in Hartford, Conn.

The three-week course covers a study of Aetna's estate control plan, a copyrighted method of analyzing the effectiveness of personal life insurance programs.

A graduate of Middlebury College, Mr. Newsome is associated with W. J. Wheeler and Co., Inc., of South Paris. He lives at 183 High Street, South Paris.

GOV. CURTIS URGES YOUTHS TO STAY IN SCHOOL

In a special appeal to Maine's young people, Governor Kenneth M. Curtis focused attention on the importance of staying in school.

"At no time have we been more convinced that education is the door to success," the Governor said. "Conclusive evidence shows that every year invested in education yields additional lifetime returns in income. The average high school graduate will earn $63,000 more than the high school dropout during a lifetime. Not only that, but a college graduate will make $170,000 more."

"We also know that each year the drop out finds its more difficult to get a worthwhile job. During the 1967-68 school year the Department of Education recorded more than 2,500 dropouts grades 9 through 12. Unfortunately they joined several thousand earlier dropouts in our youth population, nearly half of whom are unemployed."

"Don't be a cop-out from the good job market. School is your big chance. Get an education, the Governor said."

Governor Curtis also reminded employers that they could assist in this effort by offering more part-time jobs to young people in school as an inducement to completing their education.

Mrs. Adeline Dexter returned Tuesday after spending several days in Rumford at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Puffa while they attended the Credit Union Convention in Rockland.

MORGAN COMMENDED AS HONOR GRADUATE OF ARMY COURSE

Pfc. Maynard A. Morgan, son of Arthur Morgan of Paradise Street, recently received the following letter of commendation:

26 August 1969
Subject: Letter of Commendation.
Thru: Commanding Officer, Hq & Svc Btry, 4th Bn 76th Arty, APO SF 96251.

To: Pfc. Maynard A. Morgan, Hq & Svc Btry, 4th Bn 76th Arty, APO SF 96251.

1. You have recently been named the honor graduate of Course #2770, FADAC Computer, at the I Corps Artillery Specialist Academy by achieving a passing grade of 98.3%.

2. I consider the subject matter of this course to be that of great importance to this battalion as well as the field artillery in general. For with a well rounded knowledge of the operation of the FADAC, we become capable of placing timely and accurate fires on the target in a manner far superior to any we have utilized in the past.

3. I heartily extend to you my congratulations on this worthwhile achievement and wish you continued success in all future endeavors.
